A Noted Ball Tossing Quits

Cleveland, O., Aug. 9.—Addie Joss, star twirler of Cleveland for several years, has quit the team because he feels that his condition is such that it would not be right for him to continue as a member of that organization. The tendons of Joss's arm are in such condition that his physician advised him to take a long rest, but it is even doubted if that will bring Joss back to his former condition.

CACTUS LEAGUE DOPE

By L. R. Crawford.

Clifton, Ariz., Aug. 9.—The result of the Clifton-El Paso series was disappointing to the local fans. While both games abounded with spectacular plays, El Paso on the whole played a poor fielding game, and had Clifton made any kind of a showing might have annexed both contests. Something went wrong with the local combination and they did not seem to play together at all.

The credit for both contests is due to the El Paso pitchers holding Clifton, in spite of ragged support. However, the general belief here is that manager Wolfe has the material to develop a fast team. Wolfe keeps his men well in hand and uses his head continually. The Mavericks played snappy ball in the tight places, showing what they had in them, and they were quick to take advantage of any slip up on the part of the locals. The work of Flick, Clifton lost her golden opportunity to overhaul the other clubs in the second division and it will take hard playing now to regain her lost points. Clifton will play in El Paso this week and after seeing the Mavericks perform

"Can be depended upon" is an expression we all like to hear, and when it is used in connection with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy it means that it never fails to cure diarrhoea, dysentery or bowel complaints. It is pleasant to take and equally valuable for children and adults. Sold by all druggists.

JOE GANS, GAME LITTLE NEGRO PUGILIST, RECEIVES FINAL KNOCKOUT

Dies of Consumption, After Illness of Little More Than a Year—Arizona Climate Did Him Little Good.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 10.—Joe Gans, the former light weight champion, died this morning of tuberculosis. The disease manifested itself over a year ago and late last spring Gans was sent to Arizona in the hope of recovering his health but the disease was too deep seated. He was brought home last week. Gans was 34 years old.

Joe Gans' true name was Gant, the name Gans having been fastened on him early in his ring career by the mistake of a referee. Remarkable Ring Career. In all the annals of pugilism there is no record of a more remarkable or picturesque figure than that of Joe Gans, the Baltimore fighter, who has just passed away. For nearly 20 years he was almost constantly in the prize ring, and up until his final defeat by Battling Nelson in 1908, was justly deemed one of the most scientific, aggressive and game fighters that ever donned the gloves.

Gans often declared he did not know his exact age. He reckoned that 1874 was about the year of his birth. He began fighting in an amateurish way about 1890. For the following 10 years he engaged in over 125 battles, easily defeating men of minor reputation. Had he been depicted right at the time, he would have easily forged to the front and become champion years before he finally achieved that coveted distinction. The trouble was, Gans became mixed up with his manager in a series of "lay down" or fake fights, in which he might readily have gained the victory, but in which—as he always said at his manager's solicitation—he deliberately permitted himself to be beaten. In consequence, for a period, the fighting public would have none of him. Try as hard as he might to sign up a fight, there was always a sneer and a suspicion that he would throw it. About five years before his death, however, he did such excellent and palpably "square" work, that the audience against him had in a great part vanished, and his great victories were received with the entire approbation of the ring fans. Fought at Age of 34. At the age of 34—at least eight years past the time when most prize fighters have reached their eighteenth—Gans fought within one year the two most bloody battles of his career—his fights with Battling Nelson. For gameness and skill, these fights stand

Texas League Baseball Notes

By Horace H. Shelton.

UBANKS, the Houston pitcher, is now well limbered up. He is pitching ball like he did formerly in the big leagues.

Saveland is the newest recruit for the Shreveport Pirates. He comes from Freeport, Ill., and is playing first base. He is a fast fielder and a good stickler.

Thebo, who is with Dallas, has improved a great deal towards the tail end of the season. It looked for a time as if he was destined to be sent back to the brush in a hurry.

Coyle, who has been playing first base for Fort Worth, has gone to the outfield. Moore is now playing short. Eberline, the first baseman, who has just joined the team, replaces Coyle on the initial bag.

Since he has been with Waco, Brewster, the Fort Worth castoff, has been playing a brilliant game at short. There has been no better work in the league than what he puts up.

The Houston management, as well as Fort Worth, is scouring the woods for a few new men. Both realize that the team which strengthens most right now will win the pennant. Both can afford to spend a few thousand dollars to accomplish that end. The only team not making an attempt to San Antonio. It looks as if that aggression had given up all hope of winning the pennant.

Every game he pitches now must know what it was doing when Rogers make Tereau of the Shreveport team look better to the big league team that has purchased him. He is pitching excellent ball and winning almost every contest into which he goes.

Waco has lost another game by one run. The same old hoodoo follows the Navigators all over the circuit. In the records of losing games by one run the team has probably this season broken the world's record.

Where will the San Antonio-Waco series of August 17, 18 and 19 be played? That is what is worrying the management of the two teams. San Antonio don't want them. Waco is fighting shy. Temple and Austin have refused them with thanks. The probabilities are that the games will have to go to Waco. It is certain that both teams will lose heavily there.

The reason why Atlanta let Rogers come to San Antonio is being demonstrated. The big fellow seems to have a bad "yellow streak." He pitched and won six straight games, but has now lost the last four pitched. In tight places he is no good.

New York may be sorry that Shontz of Dallas was purchased before the end of the season. The only success he is scoring now is the loss of games with regularity.

Griffin, recalled from San Antonio by Atlanta, is winning his games with regularity. The management evidently came here and Griffin was recalled. The latter is standing close to the top in the number of games won in the Southern league.

Northern of Houston is still clouding the ball. The next batting records will probably show that he is leading the Texas league.

Hindrichsen is delivering the goods in the pitcher's box for Galveston. If he does not make good in the big leagues, where he already has a berth at the end of the season, it will prove a great surprise to the Texas fans.

James is a new center fielder secured by Galveston. He is heading the batting list of the team and is making good in other ways. The changes on that team are frequent.

Andrews has been deposed as manager of the Oklahoma City team and left fielder Downey named in his place. One of the first acts of the new manager was to tie the can to pitcher McClintock. Andrews will probably also be released.

The Shreveport Pirates are making a wonderful showing for the tail end of the season, winning 17 out of the last 23 games. This has put the team at the top of the second division and only a few points behind San Antonio. The team is beginning to be a pennant contender even at this late hour.

Eberline, the new first baseman of the Fort Worth Tornado, looks good. The team will have to take a brace if they are to cop the pennant. While Dallas has been whipping Houston, San Antonio was whipping Fort Worth.

Samuel Stovall is making the Fort Worth fans forget Brewster and Riggs. The old timer is playing great ball both in the field and at the bat.

After an enforced absence of three days on account of "fussing" with the umpire, captain Ledy of the Bronchos has again been permitted to take charge of his team.

Mitchell, for Houston, is twirling a fine class of ball. He recently plied himself against Shontz of Dallas and came out victorious.

Appleton, an Arlington youth who has been pitching wonderful ball in east Texas, has reported for a trial with the Fort Worth Panthers. He twirled 19 games for Longview and won 12. In case he does not connect with Fort Worth permanently he has an offer from the Galveston team.

Bob Kitchener, once famed throughout Texas for his speed. He was the only player who ever pulled on a spiked shoe who could overthrow first base and then beat the first sacker to the stunt at Beaumont where he played short stop. He went from Beaumont to San Antonio and there dropped out of baseball.

Green, backstop for Fort Worth, will probably get a big league berth next year. He started with the Panthers last year but did not get much chance as Powell was the mainstay behind the plate. This year he has had plenty of work and has more than made good.

"Cy" Mulkey has unearthed another mighty twirler in the Tom Bean community. His name is Ray. The youngster will try for a job in the Texas league next year. He comes from the same neck of the woods as Pennell, the hard hitting San Antonio player.

Charlie Weatherford has invited his father not to see any more Fort Worth games this year. This because he believed the "old man" is a hoodoo to Fort Worth. On 10 different occasions he has made special trips to see the team with which his son is connected, play ball. Each time the Panthers lost. He then tried seeing the team in Galveston. That game resulted in a tied score.

McAllister is the new addition to the ranks of the San Antonio team. He is putting up an excellent game in the field, being right there with the willow.

Schan, released by San Antonio, has joined the Houston team. He has done well with him as he has done with other cast-offs he will have a mighty valuable addition to the team.

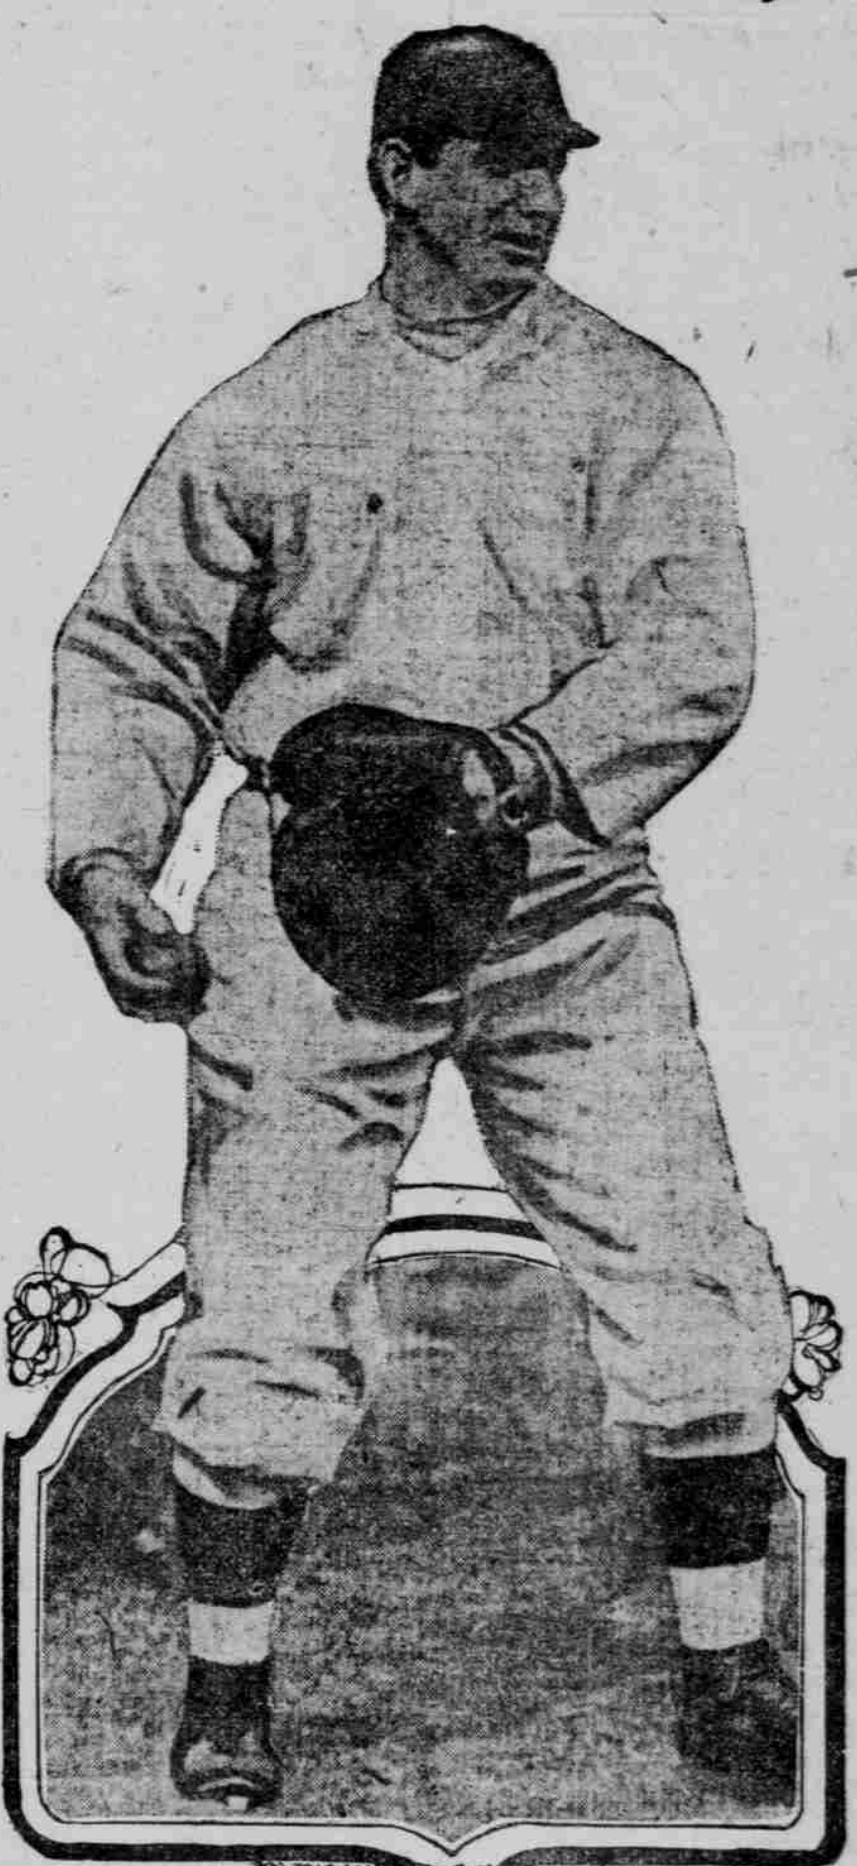

In the recent series between Houston and Dallas on -allas ground, the latter team won three straight games. This put an awful crimp in the pennant aspirations of the Buffaloes.

Pennell, second sacker for San Antonio, is still keeping up his batting streak. He is ably seconded by Stinson and Melver. The combination is winning the majority of games which are coming San Antonio's way.

Bellew, pitcher for Waco, will probably get the can. He has made no showing since he joined the team.

Manager Roger Bresnahan, of the St. Louis Cardinals, who is not only the captain-catcher of that team, but recently demonstrated that he can pitch as well. He twirled the Brooklyn Dodgers into seventh place, by going on the mound after Zmich and Backman had been hit all over the diamond. This made some of the older fans recall that when manager McGraw of the New York team signed up Roger, he took him as a twirler. Later, however, Roger developed into one of the best catchers in the National league.
